

COMPUTER/ELECTRONIC ACCOMMODATIONS PROGRAM

FACT SHEET

The Computer/Electronic Accommodations Program (CAP) provides employment solutions for Wounded, Ill, and Injured (WII) Service members and employers alike.

The Department of Defense Computer/Electronic Accommodations Program (CAP) provides needs assessments, assistive technology, and training on the availability of technology tools to help federal employees with disabilities, including WII Service members, achieve success in the workplace.

CAP provides assistive technologies for a variety of injuries, including: dexterity limitations, cognitive difficulties (including Traumatic Brain Injury) and vision and hearing loss.

BENEFITS FOR THE WII SERVICE MEMBER:

- CAP provides assistive technology free of charge to support medical recovery and rehabilitation.
- Assistive technology devices can be provided in the early phases of recovery to promote positive rehabilitation outcomes and future employment opportunities.
- CAP provides numerous technology tools for WII who experienced multiple injuries.
- Department of Defense Instruction (DoDI 6025.22), Assistive Technology (AT) for Wounded Service members, allows Service members to retain the equipment after separation from active duty, enabling them to pursue education and employment opportunities.
- CAP provides an individualized needs assessment to identify the most appropriate and useful technology solutions.

- CAP provides ongoing training to ensure retention and a comfort level with the technology.
- Technology empowers Service members by increasing their level of productivity and provides them the confidence needed to succeed in the workplace.

BENEFITS FOR EMPLOYERS:

- CAP provides training and in-service for those interested in learning more about assistive technology.
- CAP removes the barriers to employment opportunities and success by providing technologies free of charge.
- CAP provides federal employers with assistive technologies to support their staff needs.
- CAP covers the cost of training for federal employers on all types of assistive technology accommodations.
- CAP assists in providing employers an empowered WII prepared to meet the workplace demands and productivity requirements.

THE WOUNDED WARRIOR REGIMENT

The Wounded Warrior Regiment (WWR) stood up in April 2007 and immediately began to assume responsibilities for non-medical Wounded Warrior care. The mission of the WWR is to provide and facilitate assistance to WII Marines, Sailors attached to or in direct support of Marine units, and their family members, throughout the phases of recovery. The Regimental Headquarters element, located in Quantico, Virginia, coordinates the operations of two Wounded Warrior Battalions located at Camp Pendleton, California, and Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. The Regimental Headquarters provides unity of command and unity of effort through a single Commander who provides guidance, direction, and oversight to the Marine Corps WII non-medical care process and ensures continuous improvements to care management and the seamless transition of recovering Marines.
